MRS.TOM'S PART IN THE ELECTION

Governor Marshall's Wife Has the Memory for Names.

ROMANCE OF THEIR LIVES

The Notification of the Indiana Executive For Democratic Vice Presidency Honors a Record Breaker.

By J. C. HAMMOND. Of Democratic National Publicity Bu-

ly wanting to shake his hand in con-gratulation on his acceptance as can-didate for vice president on the Demo-cratic ticket, a smiling woman stepped before him, and if one could have heard what she whispered in his ear it would have been something like "Now, hurry in, Tom, and change your clothes."

clothes."

And Tom Marshall forgot to shake hands with the enthusiastic friends until he had carried out the orders of Mrs. Tom.

Indiana has honored four of her son as vice presidential candidates on the Democratic ticket, but the crowds that greeted Governor Marshall in the big coliseum in the state fair grounds, In-dianapolis, on Tuesday were the great-est in the history of the party.

The west wanted to show the cast what could be done in notification honors, and, while Mrs. Marshall was happy, of course, over the honors for her husband, she was also worried, for her husband comes mighty close to being father, husband, son and partner all in one. And when a woman has that combination on her hands to care for she has every right to be worried.

Governor Marshall will never gain any honors as a hammer thrower. Ha any honors as a hammer thrower. Ha is not built that way.

While all the country was reading the vigorous words of Governor Marshall which told the voters what he expects Democracy to do in carrying out the pledges for the next four years it's worth while to know what part a woman is taking in the affairs of the campaign—how Tom Marshall hapcampaign—how Tom Marshall hap pens to be in the position in which he

The good people of Columbia Ct:72 Ind., never thought Thomas Riley Mar-shall was a "marrying man." For for-ty years he had lived with Lis parents, nursing both his father and mother, who were invalids, which was the rea-son Governor Marshall was not a marrying man. He felt his first duty was to his parents.

Meeting Mrs. Marshall.

After the death of his parents Governor Marshall dived deeper into his law practice, and one day an urgent case took him to Angola, Ind. His ducase took him to Angola, Ind. His du-ties called him to the county clerk's of-fice, and there i.e met Miss Lois Kim-sey, daughter of the county clerk, who was assisting her father in the office.

From that day Governor Marshall had more business around the country clerk's office in Angola than any lawyer in half a dozen nearby counties.

Governor Marshall was forty-two years of age when he was married, Mrs. Marshall being nearly twenty years his unior.

years his junior. The Marshalls had been married only a few works when the future vice president was called to an adjoining county on a case that would consume some five or six weeks of his time.

"Now, I did not want to be starting off like that," Governor Marshall explained to a friend one day, "so I just told Mrs. Marshall that I thought should go along. And she did."

Since then Governor Marshall has never made a trie without has never made a trip without Mrs. Mar-shall going along. They have traveled all over the country together; they go to banquets and political meetings together until the friends of the Indiana executive refer to him and his wife as the "pards."

"Tom Marshall is not overstrong." explained one of his friends. "While not a delicate man, his constitution is not of the most vigorous type.
"When he gets into a political battle when no gets into a pointent parties he forgets his weakness. He gives all that is in him, and that will tell on any man. Mrs. Marshall soon discovered that the governor would become heated in making a speech and the next day his voice would be husky. She decided that he had better give up some of the handshaking and take care of his health first. So when you find him making a speech, when he has faished he does not stay around to hear the applause of the audience. Rather, he hurries to his room and changes his clothing.

"Some people have said that Tom Marshall is not a handshaking politi-cian. He is not. His wife thinks it is more important to guard his health than to carry out the old time policy, and she is correct, as she is in most all other things."

"Home Air" Prevails.

The Marshall home is typical of the mistress. It is a home of books, and still one does not feel "bookish." One of the Marshall friends said he always felt like eating when he entered the Marshall home in Columbia City or the executive mansion at Indianapolis Mrs. Marshall believes in a home first, and the "home air" prevails.

"If Governor Marshall ever occupied "If Governor Marshall ever occupied the White House people would not know that historic institution," declares an admirer. "Mrs. Marshall would have it a real home. People would feel comfortable even in the sold and glitter."

midst of the gold and glitter."

But it is not only as a wife and the mistress of a home that Mrs. Marshall shows her ability. She is a politician and a clever one. She also has a re-markable memory. Governor Marshall has carned the reputation of being in a class of story tellers all by himself. He can remem-ber stories, but he forgets names. A name is something to be cast aside effects. Try it. Price 25c.

friends. "We were leaning back, and Tom had been telling some of his good

"Well, now that's the way she strikes me, Jim,' he said, 'We have been married some sixteen years, and as time goes that is a long or short period, just as you think. To me it is but a fleeting day. Then I think back over my married life and find I have grown to know Mrs. Marshall better every day. A man must not only love but he must also respect his pariner in this life—respect her in all things. She must have wonderful qualities to make the love and respect grow deeper and better each day. That's been my history.

"The fact that Mrs Marshall has teen in sympathy in my work, my play, my life, is good. But I have been in sympathy with hers. Ours is not one sided life. We have been part-ters, and that's the way it should be in this world."

Mrs. Marshall has watched over his administration of the affairs of Indiana with a jealous care. There has been nothing of the spectacular in his administration. It has been a sane government. The laws that he has fought for and won show the spirit of the nan. They are uplifting. They deal with the improvement of man, woman and child.

Mrs. Marshall is not satisfied with her domestic duties alone. She wants to do her share in problems of the pe-litical and business world. Mrs. Mar-shall is said to have discussed in de-tal with her husband his actions on the Baltimore convention and when it

"It won't be any harder than being Governor of Indiana, and if the party thinks you are the man it only agrees with my opinion," she said, and that settled the matter with Governor Mar-Blamed a Good Worker.

Mrs. Marshall had the honor of be-ing the first woman in Indians to hold an office. She was appointed county clerk of Steuben county by hor father and held that office for a number of

When Governor Marshall and his when Governor Marshall and his wife were about to be married she de-cided that her last official act of the office would be to make out the mar-riage license. Governor Marshall ac-companied his wife to the county, clerk's office and watched her with care as she noted the records in the big book and filled out the license and watched her as she carefully signed her father's name, with her own as deputy.

Mrs. Marshall, having blotted the ink, said, "Now we can go."

"Not yet," laughed Governor Marshall.

"Why, we are all fixed," explained Mrs. Marshall, pointing to the license.

"Yes, but I have to pay for it," replied the governor. "It's all right for you to make it out, but it's up to me to pay the fee." And he did.

Mrs. Marshall is a keen student, and, having established the practice of going with her husband on all his trips, be they short or long, they make it a point to carry along some bock.

Mrs. Marshall is as much of a humanitarian as the governor. A since aris. Marsunal is as much of a nu-manitarian as the governor. A gianco at some of the bills that have been passed by the 1911 Indiana legislature gives an insight into the governor:

To protect against loan sharks.

To provide police court matrons, To prevent traffic in white slaves. To permit night schools.

Governor Marshall has also played an active part in providing for protection of labor, as is exampled by the following acts:

To create a bureau of inspection or workshops, factories, mines and To establish free employment agen

To require full train crews. To require safety devices on switch

To require efficient headlights or

To require standard cabooses. To provide weekly wage, etc. And Governor Marshall has con sulted with his "partner" on all these bills. He is quoted as saying a mar can't go far wrong in taking the ad vice of a wife—if she is his partner as
